Plans Being Made for Observance of Grand Army Flag Day, Feb. 12th-Relief Corps Installation-Stores Open Now at 9 A. M.—Richmond Pearson Hobson to Deliver Patriotic Address.

School Commissioner Walter E. Ranger has assued the annual program for school observance of Feb. 12. Lincoin's birthday, designated in Rhode Island as Grand Array Flag day. The bookiet contains patrictic quotations from men in public life, past and present, old and new ideas in patrictic songs and recitations of an appropriate character. Rhode Island Flag day is on the birthday of Abraham Lincoin that school children may learn to love the things he loved and grow to be like him in kindness, in fairness, in patience nad courage, in tevetion to the union and faith in popular government.

in fairness, in patience and courage, in devotion to the union and faith in popular government.

Grand Army Flag day was instituted not only to pay merited honor to the men who fought to preserve the national union and honor, but also to remind the school children that they are to take their places as civic guards of the country's integrity in times of peace, or as patriotic soldiers protecting her honor, in the defense of right, liberty and humanity, even as the flag may call.

The public act approved 17 years ago reads as follows: The 12th day of February in each and every year hereafter is hereby established in the annual school calendar to be known as Grand Army Flag day, in honor of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, and shall be observed with patriotic exercises in the public schools; but such day shall in nowise be construed to be a holiday. It is also provided that when such day shall fail on Sunday, or an Saturday, the following or preceding days, respectively, as the case may be, shall be observed.

The members of Budlong and Hancsck posts, G. A. R., take active part in the observance by assigning a member to each of the schools, who gives short talks and thereby adds materially to the interest in the exercises as outlined by the state school commissioner.

JANUARY

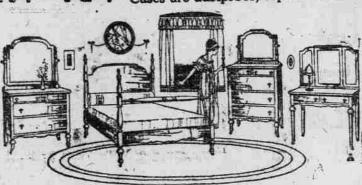

Records In Value Giving

Here on our floors are hundreds upon hundreds of pieces of furniture bearing special sale prices because we require the room these pieces now occupy for the furniture which we will purchase at the furniture exposition this month. This sale is an annual event with us, and is responsible not only for the tremendous volume of business done during this month, but for the great volume of business done during the eitire twelve months of the year, because by conducting these annual sales, we are able to keep our stock freshened up by the arrival of new merchandise.

Not a single piece of furniture reduced for this sale is imperfect in the slightest degree and the actual value is exactly the same as before the day this sale started, only you save the difference between the regular selling price and the special January sale prices. To give you some idea of what the difference is, we have taken a few pieces at random from our stock and illustrate and describe them below.
